

Richmond
Society for Community Living

*Seeing beyond disability...
... to ability*

April 1, 2020

Dear Families, Caregivers and Self-Advocates,

The Richmond Society for Community Living Board of Directors would like to acknowledge this is an extraordinary and challenging time for all our family members and self-advocates.

The Board remains committed to supporting staff, as they work tirelessly to navigate these challenges. Our responsibility is to support staff in doing everything possible to ensure the health and safety of our family members and self-advocates.

We would like to thank all of you for following the government's directives by keeping yourselves and our community safe; continuing to show support for each other by remaining patient and kind; and by maintaining physical distancing, while remaining socially connected to those you care for and about.

We are deeply appreciative of the work RSCL staff, our government officials, medical staff, and essential service providers are doing during these challenging times.

On behalf of the RSCL Board, we extend our heartfelt appreciation for your patience and understanding as we move forward together over the next days and weeks.

Please stay strong and healthy,
RSCL Board of Directors